COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

There will be a Budget Committee meeting tonight (Thursday) at the Selectmen's Office. A preliminary budget will be presented which will reflect the proposals of the manager and which have been approved by the selectmen.

We do not know how much Bethel's assessment to the School District will be so cannot project an actual figure that will have to be raised by taxation.

There will be a proposal to purchase a loader, also there is a request to raise a substantial amount for Dutch Elm Control. These two items make up most of the increase asked for services other than schools.

The second meeting of the Budget Committee will be scheduled for after the next School Director's meeting with the hopes we may know for sure the amount we must plan on for schools. Until this is known it is difficult to present a total budget to the committee.

SMOKING WITHDRAWAL CLINIC TO FEATURE "SELF-TEST"

Rumford Community Hospital's Smoking Withdrawal Clinic, scheduled to begin January 28, will incorporate a new feature, a Smoker's Self-Test, which will be used for the first time in the country as an initial screening program for this type of clinic.

Rumford Community Hospital is also the first hospital in Maine to conduct a clinic under the co-sponsorship of the Maine Interagency Council on Smoking and Health. Last spring, Joseph Hasenfuls, coordinator for the smoking control project of Maine's Regional Medical Program, provided all hospitals in Maine with background material on a suggested approach to four-week smoking withdrawal clinics and offered cooperation in planning them. A committee consisting of hospital personnel and interested community representatives met with Hasenfuls last month. They made recommendations to use a "positive approach" and further developed the program to meet the needs of the area. The Smokers Self-Test was scheduled to be given on the first night, as an orientation program so that the entire clinic would consist of five weeks instead of four. Hasenfuls hopes the Rumford clinic, if successful, may serve as a model for other hospitals in Maine.

The Smokers Self-Test was formulated over the past two years by Dr. Daniel Horne, director of the National Clearing House for Smoking and Health, Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., and is still in experimental stages. Information gleaned from its use in Rumford will be evaluated and added to research material.

Anyone who is interested in the possibilities of giving up smoking cigarettes is invited to attend or continue on Page Five

NOTICE TO SNOWMOBILE OWNERS

It would be greatly appreciated if all snowmobiles would be kept off the Gould Academy Athletic Field, Lower Athletic Field, and wooded property across the road known as "Lover's Lane". These trails are used for cross-country skiing until Feb. 20th and snowmobiles ruin the track set in the trail. Thank you very much for your kind cooperation.

MRS. LINCOLN SAYS GOV. CURTIS IS "REACHING FOR MOON" WITH PROPOSED STATE BUDGET

Rep. E. Louise Lincoln, Republican of Bethel, said in Augusta Tuesday that Gov. Kenneth Curtis is reaching for the moon with his record budget proposal.

"For somebody who two years ago said that we didn't need a major tax, I can't understand how he can say that we need a major tax now," she added.

The governor called last week for a record $365.4 million spending program for the biennium. As a means of raising $114.5 in new tax dollars, which would be needed over current revenues, the governor proposed a corporate tax of 5 per cent of net income, plus a state income tax.

The governor doesn't stand a chance of getting all he is asking for, Mrs. Lincoln declared.

"If he did get it, what would the budget be two years from now?" she asked. "It would be just horrible."

The veteran Bethel legislator said some parts of the Curtis program naturally will be passed by the 104th Legislature but that some substantial cutting will be done.

Republicans have generally tossed bricks at the big budget proposal while many Democrats have shied away from endorsing the package publicly. Privately some have said the Curtis plan hasn't a chance of passage without some major cuts.

State Senator Rufus T. Boisvert, Democrat, of Lewiston, said the budget message was factual as far as the needs of the state are concerned. Of course, he presented his views on how it should be financed, and there were some alternatives in his message, too," Sen. Boisvert said.

"But actually the Legislature will certainly scrutinize the entire budget. And, the legislators aren't tied to the message. I'm talking about the Democrats, generally."

Sen. Boisvert said Governor Curtis is quite open to suggestions and predicted the Legislature will probably come up with a different budget and with a different method of financing it.

"It's a big package," he went on. "The point is, these budgets are prepared by different departments, then revised by the governor and his staff, which cut out many millions of dollars. And the same will happen as far as the Legislature is concerned."

"It will be a question of compromise, more or less," he added. "I believe that in the long run everybody will be satisfied."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Packard of Boston, Mass., returned home Tuesday after spending five days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Packard.

A group of people went ice fishing at Richmond on Saturday including Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stevens, Bobby, John and Leo Hicks; Mr. and Mrs. Al Stevens; Mr. and Mrs. Randall Stevens; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brooks and Kelly; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Keoskie; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tibbets; Mr. and Mrs. Matt Brooks, and Mr. and Mrs. Norton Brooks.

8. Co-Chairmen Norma Jodrey and Bill Cousins are planning an evening of entertainment and ski movies. Other organizations planning events throughout the winter are asked to contact either Norm Greig or Julie Daye if they wish their events placed in the schedule.

S. A. D. 44 DIRECTORS FAIL TO ADOPT SECOND DRAFT OF BUDGET AT MONDAY MEETING

As a special meeting of the board of directors of School Administrative District 44 held at Telstar Regional High School in Bethel, Monday evening, Superintendent Ralph K. Ryder presented the second draft of the complete 1969 budget, as requested by the directors at their previous meeting. Directors not present at the meeting were Roderick Sidelinger of Andover, William Cousins of Bethel, and James Farrar of Woodstock.

Mr. Ryder went over the various accounts in the budget, and after a great deal of discussion, Eddie Snyder of Andover moved and Richard Melville of Greenwood seconded that the budget as presented be set aside and the budget presented at the Jan. 6 meeting be used as a starting point. This motion was defeated.

After further discussion the figure of $32,546.00, under administration was approved. After additional discussion on the instructional portion of the budget it was voted that the Newry school remain open for the 1969-70 school year.

Following additional discussion of the budget, Mr. Ryder suggested that the administration be given an opportunity to present a recommended budget at the next meeting.

Dexter Stowell, board chairman, called for a regular meeting to be held at the Andover Elementary School on Monday, Jan. 20, at 7:30 p. m. The meeting will include discussion and action on the budget; and action on the nomination of administrative personnel.

WHITE MOUNTAIN NATIONAL FOREST SUPERVISOR TO RETIRE JAN. 24

Gerald S. Wheeler, supervisor of the White Mt. National Forest, will retire Jan. 24 after over 41 years of federal service. He has been supervisor of this 3/4 million acre National Forest for the past 14 years. This is the largest piece of public land in New England, exceeding the State of Rhode Island in area.

Gerald S. Wheeler

These 14 years have seen an impressive amount of activity and development. It has been perhaps the most interesting and demanding period in the 60 plus year history of the National Forest and represents the final transition from the largely custodial type of management practiced during the early days of the Forest to the active productive administration of the present.

Notable among the many changes have been the establishment, under lease arrangements, of several major

PLANS OF PHONE CO. HEARD AT MEETING MONDAY EVENING

As a result of a petition which was circulated throughout the area served by the local telephone company, there was a public meeting held at Crescent Park School, Bethel, Monday evening, January 13.

Dana Douglass, Jr., of Bethel, introduced the two company officers present, Joseph P. Gardiner of Portland, president and general manager of the Maine State Telephone Co., and Stanley L. Tyner of Fryeburg, manager of the Fryeburg-Bethel district.

Mr. Gardiner explained to the many telephone patrons present that the Continental Telephone Corporation of which the Maine Company is a subsidiary is similar to AT&T and the New England Tel. & Tel. With headquarters in St. Louis, Missouri, the company serves 1 1/2 million phones and according to its 1967 financial statement was worth in the neighborhood of 750 million dollars. The Maine company owns half of the independent companies in Maine and maintains 14,000 phones. Mr. Gardiner stated that at the conclusion of a two-year program, now underway, at a cost of some $250,000 local service will be as good as is humanly possible. Cables will be installed in many areas where open wires are now used and other equipment and maintenance will be more up to date. Party lines will be limited to four patrons.

Although there are no plans for any widespread repair or improvement of the present facilities prior to the installation of the new equipment sometime in 1970, Mr. Gardiner did assure the residents in the Sunday River area that the company does have plans to improve the service in their area during 1969.

Mr. Gardiner stated during the lengthy discussion period that at the time of the purchase of the local utility there was no record of so much customer dissatisfaction and that he was glad it was brought to his attention.

RUMFORD BEAUTIFICATION PROJECT INCLUDED IN BIDS TO BE OPENED JAN. 29

The Maine State Highway Commission will open bids on Wednesday, Jan. 29, for highway construction in Fairfield and Palermo and a beautification project in Rumford.

The Fairfield project will rebuild slightly less than two miles of U. S. Route 201 beginning at the Interstate 95 interchange and extending north. In Palermo the reconstruction of Route 3 will be continued from the easterly end of the previous project, near the Palermo Elementary School, extending easterly 2.5 miles.

The project in Rumford will eliminate two unsightly areas south of the Riddellville Bridge on the west shore of the Androscoggin River. The areas, both of which have been used for dumping rubbish are plainly visible from combined U. S. Route 2, Route 17 on the east side of the river, from Route 108 (Bridge Street) on the west side, and Railroad Street, which crosses the bridge linking the two highways. The work will consist of grading and covering the areas with stone and earth, placing loam, planting grass seed, and planting shrubs and trees along the riverbank. The project includes acquiring easements from the owners of the properties—Oxford Paper Company and Maine Central Railroad.

GREENWOOD CITY — NEWRY

— Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres. —

Winter, at times, is more than snow storms and ice bound rivers. On a day like January 4th it was so beautiful that my niece, Ann, and I took a walk enjoying every moment of the two hours.

It was a brilliant day with dazzling sun; and those, this winter, have been few.

With our back to the restless breeze, moving down the valley, we set out at a brisk pace. The shadowy evergreens to either side seemed like some enchanted fairyland of loneliness amidst the rolling hills in their blanket of white.

As we moved on passing little cottages, closed and silent, we came to a more wooded section. Now and then a towering beech looking like an old gray elephant nodded down at us, rustling its dried and tan colored leaves.

Along this woody stretch the landscape was changeable, sometimes deep pools of darkness and again the sun glinted through a fringe of young birches so graceful, printed sharply against the sky. Here and there appeared a rhythm of shadows weaving across our path or pulled back behind the banks.

Huge boulders not seen in leaf time were noticeable in desolate spots, gray white, with an occasional tree clutching at the cold solidity of the stones.

Grim sentinels were guarding the ponds, with great smooth tree trunks, the perfect growth of centuries.

The air went to our heads with stinging freshness and we pulled our collars higher and thrust our hands in our pockets. Even though we wore woolen mittens our fingers tingled.

At the end of an hour we turned back to face the breeze and the mountains.

There is something about mountains that engraves them upon a persons emotions. They are stupendous, they are barriers, they mean adventure, and they are wrinkles on earth's old forehead. So who can face them, think, and be unchanging. They give to us even when sleeping in their bed so white, their pines, spruces, streams, isolation, and grandeur. It is what happens to us inside that calls us back again and again. We think of them as ever the same but know they are forever crumbling away slowly filling the valley.

Nature doesn't pause to teach; if we wish to learn we must observe and listen.

Time so enjoyable can not endure and another sixty minutes had soon vanished.

The spell was broken when Ann said, "Here's a little toy house framed in white with green beyond." We were home and were greeted with "Dee-dee-dee" and were again where windows looked across the rolling hills and shimmering snows to the mountains, our mountains of mystery and fascination.

Bernard Morgan came home from the C. M. G. Hospital Friday, where he had been a patient for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morris went to their camp on Saturday.

Dr. Hudson, Bethel, was at Bernard Morgan's on Tuesday.

Most of the week everyone has been busy clearing driveways and

Annual Reports Ready for Printer

The municipal officers have finished work on the annual town reports and they are ready for the printer. The year ended with all accounts in the black. Total unexpended balances in all accounts was $11,810.16. From a total tax commitment of $30,819, $27,848.10 was collected plus discounts allowed of $237.74, leaving $2,669.56 uncollected. Of this amount $175.08 was paid the first week in January. During the year $1,167.95 in back taxes plus interest was collected and Excise Taxes of $3,145.95, $221.79 was paid on tax liens, cost and interest. Tax liens now held by the town amount to $367.60.

Total receipts for the year were $52,847.05, with $37,335.65 paid in selectmen's warrants. Treasurer's cash balance at the year's end, plus accounts receivable totaled $19,343.13 with liabilities of $891.19.

The total suggested budget for 1969 for all accounts other than S. A. D. 44 is $3,262.44 compared to $3,654.19 for 1968. A substantial increase is anticipated in the school budget, which totaled $2,969.56 for 1968.

Because of several serious fires in 1968 the fire department account will require an increased appropriation this year. An appropriation of $200 is being asked to complete the White Pine Blister Rust project started last year.

The selectmen of the town of Rumford have asked that the Rumford-Newry town line be perambulated this year and an appropriation of $300 is being asked for this purpose.

Because of the fairly large unexpended balances in some accounts at the end of the year it enabled the asking for smaller appropriations in these accounts. With the anticipated increase in the budget for School Administrative District 44, a substantial increase in the tax rate is anticipated for 1969.

Alc Boyd Lane, Elgin Air Base, Fla., is spending a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lane.

Fred E. Sawyer and friends, Portland, called on Amy and Roger Hanscom Saturday.

William and Thomas Carey, Framingham, Mass., called on their grandfather, Robert M. Benn, one day last week.

Edward Nelson, Greenwood, was a Tuesday supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Seeley.

for ski resorts including Wildcat, Waterville Valley, Loon Mountain, and others. The now famous Kancamagus Highway between Conway and Lincoln through the heart of the forest was completed and opened to the public in 1959 through the joint efforts of the Forest Service, the New Hampshire Department of Public Works and Highways, and the Bureau of Public Roads of the U. S. Department of Transportation.

A dozen or more new recreation areas for camping and picnicking have been built to serve the traveling public. In addition, and reflecting Mr. Wheeler's interest in maintaining portions of the Forest in an undisturbed condition, nine scenic areas and the Great Gulf Wilderness have been set aside for the enjoyment of those who prefer a more primitive form of outdoor recreation.

Timber harvest from the National Forest has risen from 11 million board feet to the present level of 38 million with a corresponding increase in receipts from $111,000 to $469,000. Once beset with catastrophic fires which consumed thousands of acres of timberland in the White Mountains, the past 14 years have seen only 78 acres of the National Forest burned in 83 fires despite one of the longest droughts in recent New England history.

Mr. Wheeler attended public schools in Bangor, and received the Bachelor of Science Degree in Forestry from the University of Maine in 1925. In 1927 he was awarded the Master of Forestry degree from Syracuse University. After joining the U. S. Forest Service in 1927 he served successively as Junior Forester, District Ranger, and Assistant Forest Supervisor of the White Mountain National Forest and the George Washington National Forest in Virginia. He was appointed Forest Supervisor of Vermont's Green Mountain National Forest in 1935. In 1942 he served as Assistant Chief of the Division of Operation in the former Region 7 office in Philadelphia. In 1945 he turned to the Green Mountain National Forest and from there he was transferred in 1955 to his present assignment.

He holds memberships in such organizations as the New England Lumberman's Association, Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests, N. E. Trail Conference, and is an Honorary Member of the Appalachian Mountain Club. He has represented the U. S. Forest Service in the New Hampshire Natural Preserves Forum and the New Hampshire Natural Resources Council. He has been a member of various committees, including the New Hampshire Governor's Mount Washington Planning Committee, the New Hampshire Radio Electronics Committee, and New Hampshire Forestry Policy Committee.

He has been active in the Society of American Foresters, being Chairman of the New England Section in 1956 and 1957, and is a former Chairman of the Division of Forest Management of the parent Society. Foresters. He was honored by his alma mater, the University of Maine, with its 1968 Outstanding Achievement Award. In 1965 he received a Superior Performance Award from the U. S. Forest Service.

HATHAWAY REPORTS

Congressman William D. Hathaway. The 90th Congress last year voted to improve child nutrition programs. An additional 1.7 million schoolchildren will receive free or reduced-cost school lunches during the current school year. The number of children to be served this year will exceed four million.

Despite this improvement, there still remain 2.5 million children who are being denied this advantage, and studies have shown that among them are some of the most needy. We must and can do better.

I intend this year as in the past to support efforts to extend the benefits of nutrition programs to even more, and hopefully to all, of the people who need this service.

The reports published last year on hunger in America and the shortcomings of our school lunch program spelled out very clearly the need to increase public expenditures and to improve methods of distributing surplus and other food commodities to feed the needy. We have the food, and we have a delivery system which, if improved, is capable of reaching every hungry child and family.

Last year the Congress provided $50 million to improve and expand nutrition programs this year. This has encouraged every State to develop a special program to reach more children. The 91st Congress must renew this commitment and increase appropriations substantially.

These programs are costly, but we can hardly scribble on meeting such a basic need of the people as assuring minimum standards of nutrition. High priority should be given these programs when the Congress considers how it shall expend available funds.

I shall report legislation to further improve our efforts to meet these needs, and from my vantage point

'WHATSOEVER THINGS'

by Donald E. Wildmon

I wish to share with you this week some information on two men who have had the greatest influence on the world in which we live.

The first man was born of Jewish parents. Later his parents embraced Christianity. He was brought up with a good formal education and earned a doctor's degree from a university. Despite his very good formal education he spent most of his life in poverty. During his entire life he had only one close friend, a fellow who shared some of his views with him. He was a prolific writer and a man of strong beliefs. He was twice driven from his country because of his expressed views. He changed very little society while he was alive, but since his death his followers have shaped nearly half the world.

The other man I wish to share some information on was also born of Jewish parents. His parents later embraced Christianity, too. He had no formal education and had to learn a trade that his father taught him. He too, spent a good share of his life living in poverty. He had very few close friends and what few he had deserted him when he needed their friendship the most. They tried to share his views with him, but sometimes found it so hard to do when there were some who continually called him a fool. Although he was never driven forcefully from his country, he was asked to leave another country because they were afraid of what he was doing. Like the first man, this man changed little of society while he was alive. However since his death his followers have shaped their share of the world, also.

The first man died a natural death of old age. The second man died because of the tremendous hatred some people had for him. His method of death was capital punishment. The first man advocated the use of force to change society to fit the mold he thought it should be. The second man never advocated the use of force to change society, but rather sought to change individuals. The first man was concerned mainly with the masses of people. The second man was concerned mainly with the individual.

While the first man left us volumes of his writings to study, the second man never wrote a book. If it had not been for his friends and their concern for his teachings there is a possibility we would never have heard of him. Both of these men wanted to see the world different from what it was.

Today, the systems that have grown from the life and teachings of these two men are standing face to face around the world. One is using force to promote its system. The other strives to promote its system through understanding and love. What the world is to become, or not become, depends on which system wins.

The men? The first one was Karl Marx, the father of communism. The second one was Jesus of Nazareth, the father of Christianity.

CHURCH YOUTH GROUPS TO HAVE HAYRIDE AND SLIDING PARTY

This Saturday at 6:00 p. m. the Senior Methodist Youth with their guests, the Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational Church, will leave for Newry aboard a truck load of hay. There will be over forty high schoolers from Telstar who upon arrival at their destination will light a bonfire, eat hot dogs and drink hot chocolate, and toboggan and sled down hill. They will return aboard the hay perhaps a little frozen. Chaperones will be provided and Rev. George Stebbins will drive the truck.

as a member of the House Education and Labor Committee I shall exert all my influence to bring about not only adequate funding but greater program excellence and effectiveness.

In our rich nation there is no excuse for a hungry child. And to accept the fact of widespread want and malnutrition in our midst without taking every possible action to eliminate them would be unforgivable.

SMOKING WITHDRAWAL CLINIC continued from Page One entation night and take this test. It was emphasized by the coordinators that this is a very basic, simple test that can be completed easily by anyone.

The test will be given in four parts. Participants will select answers from multiple choice answers given. The purpose of the tests is to help participants understand themselves and to help them deal with their smoking. They'll be able to score themselves on the following questions: (1) Do you want to change your smoking habits? (2) What do you think the effects of smoking are? Why do you smoke? Does the world around you make it easier or harder to change your smoking habits?

Many people may decide to quit smoking cigarettes if they take a good hard look at the facts about smoking cigarettes and how they feel about them. The first two tests are designed to help them take this look at themselves. The last two tests are designed to give insight into what kind of a smoker they are, what problems they are most likely to run into, if any, when they try to quit, and some guidelines on how they might deal with these problems. Participants will have an opportunity to correct their own test, and have it evaluated by an expert in the field. Results will show if

SNOWMOBILES UNLOCKING WINTER PLAYGROUNDS

The snow-covered fields and forests and lakes of Maine once the silent domain of a few hardy hunters, ice fishermen and trappers, have become New England's biggest winter area playground.

The key to unlocking Maine's 32,000-square-mile treasure house of winter fun is the modern snowmobile.

No one at present knows exactly how many of the small, zippy snowbugs are in use in Maine but estimates range from 20,000 to 40,000. And dealers and distributors of the snow-traveling vehicles report sales of new machines are brisk and record breaking in Maine.

Industry reports indicate about 50 different makes and models of the machines are being manufactured, mostly in the United States and Canada. It's estimated that more than one-quarter million machines will be sold nationwide this year.

Mrs. Charlotte Davis, clerk in charge of registration of snow-traveling vehicles at the Maine Motor Vehicle Division told DED that 15,122 machines had been registered by her office as of January 1 this year. Registrations had jumped by 5,646 since December 1 when they totaled 9,476.

Maine's new registration law went into effect last July 1, following enactment by the special session of the 103rd Legislature last Winter. However, many machines are exempt from the registration requirements.

These include several hundred machines owned by State agencies, such as the Forest Service, parks and warden services, which require them for winter patrols. Also exempt are machines used by the owner on land upon which he is domiciled. It's estimated that many thousand machines are in this category.

Mrs. Davis reports that there are at present 546 authorized dealers of snowmobiles registered in Maine and that her office is receiving daily many notices of new sales. Unit prices range from about $700 to $1,500 with an average being close to $1,000, and there are many additional accessories. Snowmobile sales are subject to the four and one-half percent State sales tax, as well as to excise or personal property taxes assessed by the municipalities.

Most snowmobiles are used by families for recreation near their homes. With one of these machines, every field, ice-covered lake or woods trail becomes a winter playground. Some families own a second or third machine. The only age restriction is that youngsters must be at least 14 years of age to drive a machine across a public road.

Most modern-day trappers, hunters and ice fishermen have replaced their traditional snowshoes with snowmobiles. Some hardy explorer types use the machines to make long winter treks through the state's northern wilderness areas.

The needs and interest of snowmobile enthusiasts are being met by organized activities in Maine. Two new special snowmobile racing ovals, featuring banked turns, have been opened this year. One is the "Sugarloaf Sugarbowl".

If they may be able to stop smoking without assistance, or if it would be wiser to join the clinic which begins with the second meeting.

The clinic dates are February 4, 11, 18, and 25, and will be held at Stephens High School auditorium from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. The clinic should help cigarette smokers in the following ways: (1) Increase their level of knowledge about the health advantages and other advantages the non-smoker and ex-smoker have over the smoker; (2) Increase their level of motivation to try to stop or bring about some level of change in their smoking habits; (3) Stimulate action, sooner or later as may suit the individual, to do something about the cigarette habit; (4) provide reinforcement for action taken or for progress toward eventual action; (5) Record the successes, early and long-range.

WOODSTOCK

The services at the South Woodstock Seventh-day Adventist Church on January 11, were highlighted by having missionaries in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pendleton, and their two children, were missionaries in Tanzania, Africa, and were located about 150 miles from the Kendu Hospital in Kenya, which will benefit from the 13th Sabbath Offering offering.

Mrs. Pendleton, and the children dressed in native costume, brought interesting accounts of mission life and showed specimens of native handwork, to both Senior and Junior divisions of the Sabbath School, Mrs.

Wade Robertson's after his afternoon rabbit hunt. A big thanks to all who helped in getting him that he was there. He was home in time for his supper, very tired but happy.

R. M. Bean had the doctor as he has been confined to the house with this cold.

We are to have another man on our Cushman Bakery truck soon.

Mrs. Julie Daye was on a business trip to Augusta this week.

All the Fleet dogs have their 1969 tags.

R. M. Fleet expects to be able to go back on the snowplow soon.

Pendleton told of the critical need of enlarging the Kendu hospital, the only hospital in that area. It has been instrumental in breaking down native fear and superstition, and the hospital is over crowded. Beds are placed end to end with only a foot apart in long wards. Many times beds have to be placed outside under the trees.

The workers in this hospital are looking forward to the time when this situation can be remedied and Kendu hospital can be enlarged. They are anxiously awaiting the results of the thirteenth Sabbath Offering which will be received the last of March.

how many ribs in a pork loin rib portion?

We think there should be seven.
Not four, five or six.

With A&P's seven-rib portion, you get more of the select meat.

How can you tell how many ribs you're getting?
It's easy.

With your fingers, you can feel and count the rib bones in the package.

Next time you're buying a Pork Loin Rib Portion, check it.
If you can't count one, two, three, four, five, six, seven ribs, you're missing select meat.

You're not getting the best value for your meat dollar.

Seven-Rib Pork Loin Portions are just one example of the full value A&P meats offer.

We think that caring like this about fair portions has helped make A&P America's largest meat retailer.

When you think about it, shouldn't A&P be your store?

MAINE IFYE DELEGATE

"ROUGHIN' IT" IN JAMAICA

Visits to the capital city of Kingston and three states in Jamaica, stays on poultry and combined dairy-beef farms, "roughin' it" in the country, meetings with other International Farm Youth Exchange students from the U. S., and a tour of the J.F.K. aircraft carrier in Montego Bay have highlighted the stay in Jamaica of University of Maine graduate Eleanor M. Kent of Clinton.

In a letter to Stacy R. Miller, IFYE state program leader at the U. of M. in Orono, Miss Kent, who will return to the states in March of this year after spending six months as an IFYE participant on this island in the West Indies, notes that she has visited three of Jamaica's 13 parishes, or states, since Oct. 1.

The three parishes, St. James, Westmoreland, and St. Elizabeth, are located in the western end of the island.

In St. James, Miss Kent stayed on a poultry farm. While in the bauxite parish of St. Elizabeth, Miss Kent visited at the home of a contractor-poultry owner and his family and on a 300-acre dairy-beef farm where a large crop of pimento (or allspice) was grown on the side.

It was at this last farm that Miss Kent drove her host's tractor around the farm. "What a novelty it was for the Jamaicans to see a lady on a tractor," she writes, "because the females in Jamaica do not venture onto the farm or into the fields to give assistance to their husbands or fathers. It is only when they are sole supporters of their own families that they do small farming and field work."

For the first few weeks in December, Miss Kent lived with the headmistress of a primary school. Her home was on the top of a steep hill, without the facilities of electricity, running water, and a bathroom. "My grandmother would appreciate the tales I have to tell of 'roughin' it,'" she adds.

Some 1.8 million people live in the mountains and valleys, hills and gullies that make up 80 per cent of the surface of the turtle-shaped island, Miss Kent writes.

Thanksgiving was spent with another IFYE participant from Missouri in Kingston with a U. S. family associated with the Agency for International Development. During the holidays, Miss Kent also toured the aircraft carrier, J. F. K., which was in the port of Montego Bay for a few days.

Miss Kent, who majored in home economics at the university and was a member of the College 4-H Club and Alpha Phi Sorority, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kent of Clinton.

IN MEMORY OF JEANNETTE TREFETHEN

For nearly a quarter of a century there has been a well-loved and familiar figure on the streets of Bethel. One remembers her as a white-haired little lady, always attractively dressed in pastel colors, and with a warm and friendly smile for everyone. Jeannette not only liked people but birds and animals and flowers.

She possessed the qualities of a Florence Nightingale — compassion, gentleness, and patience, although she had never had nurse's training.

Widowed in early middle age, she soon decided to devote the remainder of her life to the service of others, especially the elderly for whom she had unbounded sympathy and understanding. Thereupon she left her home in Portsmouth, N. H., and came to Bethel where she had often visited in former years.

Her first role as companion-housekeeper was in the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nathan A. Stearns on Grover Hill. She gave them five years of devoted care. After their deaths, there were several other aged people in Bethel and Portsmouth whose last years were made happy and comfortable by her tender watchful oversight.

A few years ago she purchased the former Maurice Tyler house on Grover Hill and had with great pride made of it, with its lovely mountain view, a most attractive summer home. It was where she could entertain her friends and especially her son and his wife and her grandson with his active young family.

Early last summer, her health began to fail noticeably and from then on she was given the best of care and medical skill in a hospital in Manchester, Conn., where her death occurred on Jan. 14. Her son and his wife were devoted in doing all that could possibly be done for her comfort.

Her brave unselfish spirit and great heart were clearly manifest just this last Christmas season, when from her hospital room, she sent cheerful greetings to a large number of friends; never once mentioning her illness.

This age-old quotation seems especially appropriate: "I cannot say and I will not say. That she is dead; she is just away. With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand, she has wandered into an unknown land. And left us dreaming how very fair it needs must be since she lingers there."
